

Kanban Boards

Managing the Delivery of Your Project

Do you sometimes struggle to keep track of how a project is progressing? Or do you wish you had a simple technique for managing resources, and for identifying and managing bottlenecks in your processes?

If you do, then a Kanban board could be just what you need. It allows you to see at a glance how a project's tasks are progressing, and helps you and your team manage them through a disciplined workflow. What's more, the only things you need to create a Kanban board are a whiteboard, pens and some colored sticky notes!

In this session, we'll look at how to create and use a Kanban board, and we'll see how it can make your workflow more efficient.
